

Replacement for Huckfest

Starting this Wednesday evening until Sunday night Tyler Brown is hosting the replacement for Huckfest. The plan is to get in as much flying as possible, there will be no vendors or sponsors for this event so bring your sack lunch and get your batteries charged up for lots of air time. The pilot fee for this year's event is just $20 for the full four days. See you there